MEET THE GOVERNOR AND HIS FAMILY

JOHNSON ELECTED GOVERNOR

Morgan county refused to get excited over the election on Tuesday, when Keen Johnson was elected governor of Kentucky, Roscoe Littleton judge of the 37th judicial district, and C. C. May representative to the general assembly. It is true that some few persons worked up some degree of enthusiasm, but the rank and file took things easy, content with the simple casting of their ballots. Four years ago 5,750 votes were cast in Morgan county in the governor's race; this year only 4,935, of which Keen Johnson bagged 3,370 and King Swope 1,565.

In the race for circuit judge, Jesse K. Lewis had 3,067 to his credit here and Roscoe Littleton 1,848. The contest for representative almost developed into a race. C. C. May received 3,007 and Curtis Elliott 1,837 of the 4,844 votes cast in this race.

A new board of trustees for West Liberty was elected, consisting of Dr. A. P. Gullett, H. R. Stacy, Stanley Blair, Gordon Adkins, and F. S. Brong.

We expect to tabulate the county vote for principal races next week.

READY FOR ROLL CALL

The 1939 Roll call of the American Red Cross in Kentucky will start on Armistice Day, November 11, with the roll call workers probably more thoroughly organized and the chapters of the Red Cross themselves doing more to make certain the success of the campaign than ever before in the history of Red Cross roll calls in the state.

District and county chairmen have seen to it that their territories have been organized down to the precinct and school district. In most of the cities the campaign has been so planned that it is not believed a single person will be overlooked, however, they may enroll by calling at Red Cross headquarters in the county or by communicating with any of the workers.

Committees have been functioning in some of the counties for two and even three weeks. The newspapers, as usual, have given generously of their space to all Red Cross news and news of what the organization is planning to do to help the stricken refugees in Poland and other European countries is read with interest. The American Red Cross now has a delegation in Europe surveying immediate and probable needs as a result of recent happenings there. Items included in the former are 220,000 articles of men's clothing, 83,000 heavy dresses for women and 137,000 sweaters.

There is also a demand for soap to aid the refugees in keeping clean and thus warding off epidemics, besides medicines and foods for those who are ill.

W. H. Sebastian of Lexington came home to vote Tuesday and enjoyed a fine chicken dinner with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Auty McClain. Mrs. Sebastian remained with their son Don, who was too sick to make the trip.

Mrs. Jerry Stacy of Lexington visited several days with relatives in the county. Mr. Stacy joined her Tuesday for the home election.

BASKETBALL

The 1939-40 edition of Morgan County High School's Basketball Team has been practicing for four weeks and is rounding into form nicely for the opening game at Oil Springs November 14. The opening game at home will be November 17. The boys seemed to have gained skill in passing, jumping, dribbling and especially shooting. All this added to a year's growth and a year's basketball experience has caused Coaches Burton and Nickell to go out on a limb and predict a good season for this team.

Among the many candidates for positions on the team are six returning lettermen from last year. They are Curly Carpenter, who looks like he can't miss having a great year, Moore, the left handed artist, who has finally found the range, Peyton an ambitious boy, who has improved greatly. Little, an expert ball handler and besides being fast, a good shot and the best defensive player on the team. Price, a boy who has good fundamental training and has gained the confidence necessary for good play. Lykins, the speed merchant of the team who has finally acquired the necessary fundamentals to go with his scrap.

In addition there is Keeton, the best long shot on the squad, up from last year's second team. Blair, a fast scrapper and good shot, L. Williams a tall boy much improved, Hammonds a big boy who looks like a diamond in the rough, H. Vest, a small smart boy who is learning fast. Added to these there is Paul Williams, Turner, Hall, I. Vest, Wells and Hale who all show great possibilities.

A good schedule has been arranged for the team. They will play fifteen home games and twelve away. The schedule is as follows:

A nurseryman from Louisville is employed this week by Mrs. Auty McClain to beautify her lawn, also the lawn of her new residence on Glen avenue occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Ratliff. We hope Mr. Ratliff is settled in this beautiful home for the winter and that he will enjoy the splendid location among such fine neighbors.

POULTRY

During the past week or so the writer has visited several farmers who are receiving nice incomes from poultry. Altho the daily income from poultry may seem small it figures to be a very important income to Morgan county. It is also helpful in meeting the farmer's daily expense.

Following are a few feeding suggestions for poultry raisers. Many farmers in this county are already practicing principles.

Laying hens are paying hens at this time of the year and poultry management should be centered around those practices which will encourage better production. Good production is dependent upon a good feeding program, comfortable quarters, and a sufficient supply of water.

A good feeding program consists of getting the hens and pullets to consume large amounts of a well balanced ration. A very practical method of doing this consists of keeping mash and grain before the flock at all times in self feeders or hoppers. Provide at least one foot of hopper space for each four hens. Three self feeders four feet long and so constructed that the hens can eat from both sides is sufficient for 100 hens.

The mash may consist of mixing together ground grains, wheat by-products (such as bran or shorts), and some protein concentrate, such as meat scraps. The simple mixture of three parts of wheat shorts, one part ground yellow corn, and one part meat scrap is quite satisfactory where hens are allowed free range for half a day on land which has a supply of green feed on it. One pound of salt should be added to each 100 pounds of mash. For those who are going to sell hatching eggs either liquid or dried milk makes a splendid addition. Cod liver oil at the rate of one pint per hundred pounds of mash will increase hatchability too.

One hundred hens will drink about four or five gallons of water a day. It is the cheapest part of the egg and should be supplied liberally.

A good feeder does all that he can to stimulate feed consumption. Stirring the mash each time he goes to the hen house creates curiosity on the part of the hen and results in her taking a few extra bites. If the hoppers are not filled too full and a small amount of fresh mash is added each day the hens will eat more.

WILL STACY RETURNS HOME

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Scheiber of Columbus, Ohio, brought Mrs. Scheiber's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Stacy, home from Lexington Saturday, Oct. 28, and remained for the week end. Mr. Stacy thinks that four months and seventeen days in the hospital are quite enough for one man. He is stopping with his son Rowland until he is stronger.

Mr. Stacy is looking fine and still wearing his genial smile. He has a good appetite and sits in the hotel lobby almost a whole day, sometimes walking about a little.

Mr. Stacy celebrated his 74th birthday while in the hospital. The nurses brought a table to his room, placed on it a cake with candles. Mrs. Stacy and daughter helped to plan the feast, then they all sat down with Mr. Stacy and enjoyed it.

FARMERS' COLUMN

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Starting February 28 with 208 chicks in a rock brooder, and using wood as fuel, Mrs. Mollie Cassidy, Edmonson county, raised 104 pullets at a cost of less than 10 cents each. The flock began laying August 14.

Fall and winter improvement work planned by homemakers' clubs in Daviess county includes repairing steps, fences and walks about homes, pruning and removing shrubs and planting trees. Landscape improvement will continue through 1940.

Will Sloss, 77 years old, has been proclaimed Warren county's "most progressive farmer." He feeds about 200 cattle and 300 hogs a year, and raises mules and sheep. His well-managed 370-acre farm returns a good annual profit.

A tour of farms on which beef cattle are raised convinced Grant county farmers that more cattle could be handled with profit. There are about 350 head of registered breeding cattle in the county.

Much of the tobacco land in Cumberland county was seeded to crimson clover. Many farmers made their first seedings of Italian rye grass, and considerable alfalfa was seeded, following applications of phosphate and limestone.

The Christian county association of Hereford breeders sold 23 registered heifers to a man in South Carolina. Members of the association are increasing their herds. About 600 head of feeders and breeding cattle have been brought in from Texas.

Small Fruits Do Well

Consider the small fruits, how good they taste, how well they help out in producing more food on the farm. So suggests Professor C. S. Waltman in a new Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin called, "Grape and Small-Fruit Varieties for Kentucky." Grapes, strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, dewberries, currants and gooseberries are easily grown in the garden. In two to four years they yield in abundance and provide fruit for canning and for making jellies, jams and juices.

SCALLOPED APPLES

In the interests of eating more Kentucky apples, the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture offers the following scalloped apple recipe:

Pare, core and slice tart, firm apples. Place a layer of the sliced apples in a baking dish, sprinkle with sugar and dot with butter. Put in another layer of apples and press down, add more seasoning, and keep on until the dish is heaping full. Cover and cook slowly for about an hour in a moderate oven. Then remove the cover, spread buttered bread crumbs over the top, and return to the oven to brown the crumbs. The apples will be pink in color. Scalloped apples are especially good served hot with the main course of a meal.

HOW TO GRADE TOBACCO

Agents of the tobacco section of the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics, in cooperation with the markets section of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, are conducting grading demonstrations in about 100 Kentucky counties in which burley tobacco is grown.

To these meetings, held at tobacco barns, farmers take samples of leaf to be stripped and sorted by the experts so as to bring its true value on the market. It is expected that about 350 meetings will be held among burley growers, to be followed with demonstrations in counties where dark tobacco is grown.

Last year, similar grading demonstrations sponsored by the markets department of the State College of Agriculture attracted about 15,000 farmers and students of vocational

All About Soils

What makes a good soil, how to build and maintain fertility—in fact, about everything that one needs to know about the soil—is contained in a 64-page circular published by the Kentucky College of Agriculture. Chapters discuss the make-up of soils, elements they should contain, keeping up the nitrogen supply, and the use of lime, phosphate, commercial fertilizers and manure. Erosion, tillage, soil water and physical properties of soils also are considered. Ask a county agent or write to the college for Circular No. 54, "Soils—an Elementary Treatise."

LIMING MAY INJURE TOBACCO

The possibility of injuring tobacco by heavily liming land immediately before the tobacco is grown is brought out by Professor George Roberts in a Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin on the place of legumes in cropping systems. While it is important to use lime to produce a satisfactory growth of legumes, it is important not to lime land heavily on which tobacco is to be grown, and not to apply lime immediately preceding tobacco, he declares.

The lime should be applied as far ahead of tobacco as can be done in preparing land for tobacco, and should be used at as low a rate as will produce the legume. One ton of ground limestone per acre is usually sufficient for this purpose, but there is little danger from two tons if four or five years intervene between its applications and the tobacco crop.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Relief

During the month of August, 17,620,000 persons in 6,10,000 households received total payments of $275,831,000 in public assistance and Federal works program wages. Figures for the month of September will be announced by the Social Security Board in November.

Income

For the year 1937, 529,407 corporations filed income tax returns. Of these, 119,028 reported net incomes, 285,810 no net income and 51,259 represented inactive corporations. The aggregate gross income reported by active corporations was $141,967,776,852. The "net income" group had a net income of $9,634,836,716. The deficit of corporations without net incomes was $2,280,845,542. Of these figures a normal tax of $1,056,939,166 was paid, a surtax of $175,897,696 on distributed profits and $43,333,435 on excess-profits. The total tax was $1,276,172,397.

Prosecutions

The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation has asked the Department of Justice to prosecute a grocer on the charge that he accepted blue surplus stamps for commodities other than those placed on the surplus list. Already, the Birmingham, Alabama, grocer has been barred from further participation in the plan.

Forest Fires

An area as large as the State of Kansas was burned over by forest fires in 1938, according to the Forest Service. There were 232,229 forest fires in 1938, covering 33,815,100 acres.

Soviet Trade

Trade between the United States and the Soviet Government is expected to increase substantially during the remainder of the year. The Soviet Union bought about $70,000,000 worth of products in this country during 1938 and agreed to buy a minimum of $40,000,000 during the present year. So far the minimum proportion has been barely maintained but possible purchases are expected to develop as soon as Russia decided how shipments can best be routed to Russia.

WHAT'S HAPPENED

Another week of almost complete quiet upon the western front ended tonight. Aside from routine reconnaissance flights by French and British and German airplanes and the complete retirement of French troops from the position that they had occupied in the Saar region in the first weeks of the war, there was nothing reported that seemed to possess any real significance. Not much importance was attached by neutral observers, nor the French or British, to the reports that Germany was concentrating large numbers of men, several divisions in fact, along the Luxembourg-Belgian border in the north and the Swiss border in the south. They were believed to be designed to act as threats to keep the French uneasy rather than to indicate that a real major offensive was in prospect. In fact it looks now as if there will be little or no major until good weather sets in toward spring. This seems further indicated by the fact the French have announced that they have already commenced to give furloughs to the older troops in the line.

On the sea there have been reports of observation flights of German planes over the northern coast cities of Britain. Information available indicates that as yet these raids have not been conducted by modern bombers which are capable of a speed in excess of three hundred miles an hour. Those planes that the British have not shot down have been old ships, converted air mail planes whose speed has not been above one hundred and sixty miles an hour. Why faster and newer ships have not yet been used is undisclosed. Apparently it would seem that the Germans are saving them for use when the real air fighting commences sometime in the future.

The situation in the Baltic countries has not changed during the week. Conversations between Finland and Russia have continued, as apparently have those between the other Baltic neutrals. What Russia has demanded of Finland has not as yet been announced. At least Finland has not publicly yielded.

On the sea the submarines continued to sink British and neutral shipping. The British claimed to have sunk three in the course of one day, but admitted that the losses of ships had been considerable but not at the rate that had been common back in 1917. The British claimed also to have shot down sixteen German bombers during the week, three during an attempted air raid upon a British convoy in the North Sea. Such losses have, however, been denied by the Germans. The principal interest here in the war news centered around the fate of the American vessel, City of Flint, apparently captured by German sea raiders, presumably, one of the German pocket battleships which had escaped through the British blockade. The crew was taken captive and the Flint was taken into the Russian Arctic port of Murmansk by a German prize crew. She was taken as a prize on the ground that she was carrying contraband goods.

In spite of United States protests and claims that after the cargo was removed the ship should have been turned back to her officers and crew, it is reported unofficially that the Flint sailed from Murmansk under her German prize crew seeking a German port. This seems to have been the first case in which the United States government has protested the action taken. The present whereabouts of the Flint is undisclosed.

Last minute reports indicate that the war along the western front has changed from an artillery duel to one on loud-speakers urging the enemy to lay down its arms. Neutrals remain generally puzzled by the reports from the war fronts.

WINTER WARNINGS

Now that cold weather is just around the corner you will be driving with your windows closed. You are asked to remember two things:

With windows closed it is more difficult to hear horns, train whistles and warning bells. And a car without ventilation exposes its occupants to the danger of carbon monoxide. Check over your automobile for leaks in the exhaust system. Open the cowl ventilator to circulate air, because open windows create a suction in the car which draws exhaust gases through the floorboards.

There are two ways of committing suicide with gas. One is by stepping on it. The other is by warming a motor in a closed garage.

Another precaution against deadly carbon monoxide fumes is keeping your garage doors propped open when the motor of your car is running.

"Don't Let Carelessness Put You on the Spot—Drive Carefully."

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gorman and Walter Mashburn went back to Flemingsburg Tuesday to vote.

The following high school students spent the week end with home folks at Blaze: Mary Lee Blair, Delma Collins, Roberta Brown, and Gordon and Garland Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bascom Elam, Mr. and Mrs. Drexel Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Quayle and little daughter Irene made a business trip to Ashland a few days ago.

Mrs. C. C. Burton, who is in the Marting hospital at Ironton, Ohio, is improving. Dr. Burton came back to look after some of his patients. Some of the family expect to visit Mrs. Burton today.

The following teachers from our school are attending E.K.E.A. at Ashland today and tomorrow: W. L. Carpenter, Mrs. Catherine Lewis, Carl Burton, Robert Caskey, Miss Mildred Whitt, Mrs. Bessaline Allen, Mrs. Nell Byrnes, Roy Nickell, Wendell Nickell, Misses Floris Cox, Betty Carter, Christine Haney, Mrs. Catherine Byrd, and Carl Reeves.

CANES

Oct. 31.—The play, "Small Town Romeo," which was given Friday night by the Adult Class taught by Willard Benton, went off with a great success. There was a large crowd present and every one seemed to have a fine time.

Bud Conley of this place has moved to Ohio where he will make his future home.

Some of the boys who left here to try to find work have returned very much disappointed.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Benton and son, Ledford, were visiting friends in Wolfe county, the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Mounts were visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Mounts during the week end. A SWELL GUY

MORGAN COUNTY SCHOOL PAGE

(Under Auspices of Ova O. Haney, County Supt.)

ABC'S OF THE SENIOR CLASS

A is for Alphabet
The list is now begun,
So now we'll name the seniors
And describe them, one by one.
B is for Laurence Byrd,
A splendid little guy,
Who goes around so meekly,
With a weird look in his eye.
C stands for "Curly"—
You can guess the rest—
Of all the senior laddies
The girls love "Curly" best.
An orator of great renown
He'll more than likely be;
An dalso a sweet daddy
With a baby on his knee.
C also is for Victoria Cottle,
The wise old girl you see,
Who covets "A" in every class,
But who abhors a "C."

D is for L. D. DeHaven,
Little darling to be plain,
The girls all run him ragged
And long for him in vain.
E's for Omodelle Easterling,
Who's boldly set her net
For S. E. Craft and sternly vows
That she will catch him yet.
But next time they go motoring
It would be wise, I ween,
For them to take a half a pint
Of good red "gasoline."

F stands for the future
Staring Seniors in the face,
God only knows what they will do
When they leave this dear old place
G stands for Ralph Gullett,
Who's living in despair
Because 2 handsome lassies
Have laid for him a snare.
Most boys are glad to have one girl
A hankering around
But a boy with 2 a hankering
Is very rarely found.

And so of late poor little Ralph
Is very much distressed
Because he can't make up his mind
Which one he loves the best.
H stands for Marie Haney
Who's acted mighty mean
Because some one took off her gate
On the night of Halloween.
It was the only prop she had
While courting on the sly;
She's hoping it will be returned
In the happy by and by.
I is for ill at ease
That lurks in every breast
Of the poor old seniors who're afraid
They'll flunk the final test.
J stands for Juniors
Who anxiously await
For these pesky little seniors
All to graduate.

For they are getting ready
To wear the seniors' boots
They've sown the seeds of wisdom
And soon will reap its fruits.
K is for the big word—
That word we all call knowledge—
The seniors will be minus it
When they go away to college.
L stands for Lee Lykins
He's very, very, mannish
And yet he seems a baby
When it comes to learning Spanish.
But Spanish he must master
Or an interpreter must get,
For his letters come in Spanish
From his Salyersville coquette.
M's for Mabel McKenzie
Who, though so sweet and mild,
Has learned to hate fair Omodelle
A nice sweet, senior child.
But 'tis hard to love a rival
So she says "Now Omodelle
Looks like you'd leave him alone
When you know I love him well!"
N is for Nell—you all know her.
She's much in love with her mate
She sponsors the famous old seniors
And has just got married of late.
When she was single she'd sting you
Because in her name was a bee
But now she'll burn you like fury
For she married a "Byrne" don't you see?

O is for poor old Sam Oldfield Who perhaps is the dunce of the class
In Algebra he is a dummy
And it seems he never can pass.
A senior's honor he's claiming
But in Math he's away down the line
Yet in courting and sports of all nature
He seems to be doing just fine.
P is for Clint Potter
Who's doomed a bachelor life
He's joined the bachelor club
And swore he'd have no wife.
Q is for quaint, queer old people
Mr. Carpenter and Annabelle Who've long since forgotten the story
Of love that they once used to tell.
They believe that all boys should be Monks
Join the cloister one by one,
And that each girl should wear a veil
And live the life of a nun.

But ere we have all become seniors
We hope to remind them of youth
That's full of joy and gladness
And frankness, and honor, and truth.
R is for Chester Rose

Who for some time could never decide
What type of a maiden he wanted
To choose for his partner, his bride
Till one day a highway patrolman Brought his daughter right into our town
Said Chester "She'll be mine forever
If I can but once run her down.
"Now Dad," he said to his father,
A Motor cyc- you must buy
And I'll catch that cop and his daughter
And patrol the highway by and by!
S is for the rest of the Seniors
That we cannot call out one by one
Soon our ABC's of the Seniors
Will all be written and done.
T is for teachers and tyrants.
Synonymous terms you'll agree
But why they were sent here to bore us
I will never be able to see,
U is for "Us" we're the freshman
The Muckety Muck of the school
We're not so wise as the Seniors
But not one of us is a fool
We believe in youth and its pleasures,
We crave our part of the fun,
And we're going to have it by golly!
Before our work here is done!
V is for varsity wisdom
The Seniors are trying to claim
But when they go off to college
They will wear a different name.
W is for Monnie Wingo
It seems to be her luck,
To capture every laddie
Who drives a gravel truck.
We predict for her a future
With some such boy as these
A-teaching all her children
The Senior's A B C's.
X Y Z stand for the rest
That we would like to say
But time is flying so goodbye,
Old Seniors, well away.

M. C. H. S. Chapter F. F. A.
Roy Nickell, adviser of the local chapter F. F. A., took the following boys to Berea to participate in the judging contest. The teams were as follows: Fat Stock: Harlin Lykins, Lee Lykins and S. E. Craft, Dairy and Poultry: Walter Oldfield, Earl Ross and Robert Cottle. Farm Crops:
Charles Rowland, Joseph Peyton and L. D. DeHaven. Farm Shop-Agriculture Drawing: Ormond Lewis. Woodwork: Don Long. Electric Wire Splicing: Current Hale. Saw Sharpening: Asa Kemplin. Rope Work: Paul Williams and Soldering: Ford Meadows.
Besides participating in the judging contests the boys attended the livestock show at 7:00 p.m. and the free movie "Alexander Graham Bell" at 3 p.m. The boys had an enjoyable time and profited very much by their trip.

The boys of the chapter rank as follows in the judging contest of Fat Cattle, Dairy and Poultry and Farm Crop: Harlin Lykins, Lee Lykins, Current Hale, Earl Ross, Robert Cottle, S. E. Craft, L. D. DeHaven,
Walter Oldfield and Joseph Peyton.
The ranks of the farm shop boys are not included since we did not get their score. We will get the final returns at a later time.

KNOW IT ALL
What blonde-haired girl has taken up gardening rather than cooking?
What auburn-haired girl likes for her boy friend to select her clothing for her?
What grade teacher wishes for Christmas to come so she can receive her oranges from a Goleta, California, bachelor?
Why does Nancy Elam like large men instead of small men?
Why aren't the senior girls going to learn the new school song by Friday?

Thelma Pelfrey evidently had something to yell for Friday.
Why is Lee Lykins called, "I'll be back?"
Wonder what senior girl would like for her ring to have A. E. C.
instead of A. E. S.
What senior boy is deeply in love with Elvora May?
What senior girl wants to make a hit with L. D. DeHaven?
Wonder why Louise McKenzie likes to drive a Chevrolet rather than a Ford.

The Dramatic Club is working on three plays "The Drums Roll On,"
"Let's Honeymoon Again," and
"Bachelor's League" to be given during the year. There seems to be quite a bit of talent among the club members, so these plays should be very entertaining.

The PTA is planning an excellent program for next Monday evening at 7:00. The principal speaker will be Rev. Heycoop of Wrigley. Prizes for the best home room attendance will be awarded.

CANNEL CITY SCHOOL

The Raiders met Maytown on the local floor Saturday night and the Raiders won by the score of 16-13.

The sophomores with Mr. Brown night last week.

Mr. Trimble was absent from school Monday.

Several persons from West Liberty attended the basketball game Saturday night, including both our former coaches, Wendell Nickell and D. C.
Burton. Glad to have them.

Some of the teachers are planning to attend the E.K.E.A. at Ashland
this week.

CROCKETT P. T. A.

The parents and teachers of the Crockett community met in the high school auditorium on Thursday evening, October 26. The juniors and seniors with a few members from the dramatic club entertained them with a program of black face skits, music and a humorous monologue.

After the program, the association had an important business meeting.
The Crockett PTA was honored by the presence of Mrs. C. K. Stacy, president of the PTA of the Morgan County High School, Mrs. Lillian Blair and W. O. Pelfrey of West Liberty. Mrs. Stacy gave an enthusiastic talk on PTA and its value to the community and school. Mrs. Blair and Mr. Pelfrey gave interesting talks.

CROCKETT BASKETBALL

The "Walkthons" team chalked up a 43-15 victory Friday by walloping the Flat Gap Ridge Runners at the Crockett gym.

This is the first win for the "Tigers" out of two games, having been beaten last last week by Cannel City by a score of 17-20.

Both teams fought hard under great handicaps, one being poor lighting facilities. In the evening by the twilight you can hear those coaches howling turn on the light, so we turn on the scoring power if we have any.

The game was played with an official white ball, quite an experience for both teams. Both teams showed marks of unsurpassed sportsmanship, which of course, is one of our chief aims in basketball.

Friday, November 3, Salyersville will be our host and I am sure it will be a thrilling game.

Salyersville is one of our friendly rivals and we are looking forward with much anticipation to their coming because they passed the buck last year and didn't visit us.

ward Barker and Emerson Pelfrey.

The list of students on the perfect the first and second grades will be in next week's issue of the COURIER.

Nickell, the Junior English teacher.

name, written by S. S. Van Dine, which has been one of the recent best sellers.

absent from school for the past week,
is back.

Miss Nell Elam has been absent
